Me to We Speaker and Inspirational Spoken Word Artist

{ N O A H K A P L A N }

Poetic and compassionate, Noah Kaplan captures audiences with stories and spoken word pieces, sharing thought-provoking tales of his humanitarian experiences at home and abroad. Filled with moments of struggle, joy and beauty, Noah's message encourages people to change their view of the world and become active global citizens.

At 15, Noah began volunteering with environmental sustainability and international development projects, from Israel to Costa Rica and South Africa to Ecuador. After helping build a new home for a family living on a Mexican landfill, Noah realized the true meaning of family and community in a way that forever shaped him.

Since he began speaking professionally, Noah has shared his journey and his gift for spoken word with thousands of students, educators, universities, faith-based groups and families. With unbridled passion for the world around him, Noah was selected to share the stage with Archbishop Desmond Tutu during his last North American public appearance.
